WEBSITE DEVELOPMENT OFFER

VEB:
Your success is our aim

If you're aiming to scale or optimise your business, then you definitely need a modern, bespoke website that suits your needs, and here's why:

The website is a tool for:

- Shaping your brand image

A website can showcase your activities in detail and at their best. Display processes, employees, certificates, technologies, locations, as well as any product and service catalogues.

- Telling the world about your activities

For the convenience of your customers and partners, detailed and important information can be consistently posted on the website and will be available to all, 24/7, anywhere in the world.

Your success is our aim

Interaction with your customers

The website helps to make it quick and easy to share all kinds of information: leave feedback, contact you, leave a complaint and more. This is very important, because the design and functionality of your website creates a user experience that will help the customer determine whether or not they will come back to you again.

Attracting new clients, partners and workers

As necessary, websites and information from the site are promoted in various ways to attract attention and mass appeal in all directions.

Demonstrations of your work and professionalism

You can put your portfolio on the website: descriptions of your completed tasks with photos and/or videos. Showing a large portfolio greatly increases your competitiveness in the eyes of visitors.

Automation and process optimisation

A CRM system (customer relationship management system) can be developed for the site and your business. The features of CRM systems are: sales of products and services; recording of requests and transactions; management of tasks and projects; online monitoring of KPIs; recording of clients for services; creation of necessary documents; cost calculator; integration with emails, telephony, social networks, SMS mailings; various individual process automation...

All of these capabilities are important enough to scale any business, so there are no barriers for the vebi team when it comes to achieving your strategic goals, because we understand how important growth and results are to you. We take a personalised approach to each client, focusing solely on the client's needs and objectives.

We offer you to consult about the website you want via email:

COMPLEMENTARITY

VEB:
Your success is our aim

Every business, regardless of size or industry, needs to have an online presence to be competitive in today's world. And while social media can play an important role in promoting a brand and engaging with audiences, it is the company's own website that is the official online presence.

An in-house website offers the company much more flexibility and control over the information the company details in a convenient way for customers and visitors, and the website provides the opportunity to interact with customers in different ways, using different tools suited to the target audience.

The website and social media are two tools that complement each other with different functionality and goals.

MCLAREN RUN TO APOCALYPSE
A light and strong supercar shaped by the forces of nature. Honed by the elements. Poised for attack. And ferociously fast. Yet beautifully made, tactile and effortlessly usable, every day.
The McLaren 720S is purposeful and radical. With apex predator responses. It accelerates from 0-60mph in an incredible 2.8 seconds when provoked. And can cover a quarter of a mile in 10.4 seconds. From a standing start.
But raw figures don't reveal the whole story. There is pure driver engagement and contemporary luxury here too. In depth. A thrilling, accessible, natural balance.
Evolution in full flight.
